

Louisville, Kentucky

With this year's CIC emphasis on sustainability, it seems appropriate to share Louisville's recent leadership exercise that was conducted to identify creative, ongoing funding solutions. Our Coalition's Board of Directors is made up of local matching fund contributors, who also happen to be major stakeholders in the provision and funding of indigent care. The challenge our Board faced was in mapping out ongoing funding strategies post RWJF.

Currently, these dollars help support getCare's administrative infrastructure. Clearly, if the group didn't identify additional resources, it would be incumbent upon their own organizations to come up with the "gap funding."

We brought a third-party facilitator and held a day-long retreat at a site that lends creative thinking. Our gift is the working agenda for the retreat (including group exercises) and the creative ideas that were spawned as a result.
